Cloudware is simply any software, service or application that is delivered via the Cloud to an internet enabled device of your choice.

The chances are you're already using the Cloud for entertainment or leisure services, think Facebook, BBC iPlayer, You Tube or Spotify for streaming music and you've already got the idea.

Cloudware is changing the way companies and organisations work, but what exactly is it, what are the advantages and why is it generating so much interest?

This short video will give you the answers and turn you into a cloudware expert.

Cloudware explained

10 reasons for using Cloudware

What does my business need to run Cloudware?

What is the Cloud?

What is Cloudware?

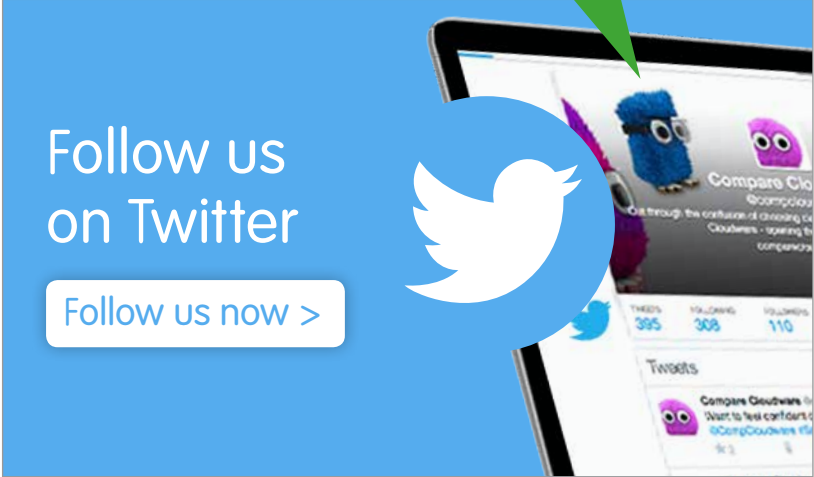

Cloudware is simply any software, service or application that is delivered via the Cloud to any internet enabled device such as a computer, tablet or phone.

Cloudware allows virtually any IT and Communication services to be available on-demand through the internet. Think of it as internet generation software and services with little or no upfront cost and without the supporting cast of bulky hardware, lengthy installations, annoying updates and expensive maintenance agreements.

Cloudware explained

10 reasons for using Cloudware

What does my business need to run Cloudware?

1. Reduced Risk

2. No or Little Upfront Costs

3. More Control

Keeping up to date with the latest IT and Communications services has traditionally been a problem for smaller businesses. With little or no 'IT budget', the idea of updating software or replacing old hardware normally arrives when something doesn't work anymore or simply breaks!

With Cloudware, there are no nasty surprises as charges are typically priced on a flat rate and you pay for what you use (rather like renting a car or paying your electricity bill). Spend can be tightly controlled and some firms have cut IT delivery costs by as much as 90% simply by switching to a Cloud alternative.

4. Easy Management

5. Scale Up or Down

6. Increased Security

7. Greater Flexibility

8. Simpler IT services

9. Go Mobile

10. Always Up-to-date

'WHAT IS CLOUDWARE'

Cloudware explained

10 reasons for using Cloudware

What does my business need to run Cloudware?

Cloudware is changing the way companies and organisations do business. Naturally, however, there will be some reservations about turning to a subscription-based software service.

We've tried to answer the most commonly asked questions about how to ensure your business is ready for cloudware below, but if you have other questions, take a look through the Forums to see if they have been asked before, or raise the question yourself.

What versions of browsers are required?

What broadband speed is required?

Cloudware applications and services are designed to run on a broadband connection, whether at home, in the office, or through a mobile. Do be aware, however, that typical business broadband speeds are around 20 Mbps, while broadband speeds at home and on mobiles are often lower.
